

Best Way to Wash the Hair

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with Canthrox. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of Canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair, instead of just the top of the head.—(Adv.)

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more yawning, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly. It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—(Adv.)

DIVERS COMING TO SAVE CARGO

Company Has Trouble Inducing Negroes to Salvage Steamer Chattanooga's Freight.

The officials of the Tennessee River Navigation company are still puzzled over the cause of the recent sinking of the steamer Chattanooga, and are awaiting the arrival of divers which the company will use in an effort to recover the bags of grain that are under water. The divers to be brought here are now busy recovering freight, etc., in the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, caused by the recent high water.

Ed Bass, newly elected manager of the navigation company, declares that he is still unable to say just why the boat sank, but it is his opinion that there is a leak in the hull. The real cause, he said, will not be known until the boat is completely unloaded and an examination made. They have recovered about $50 bags of grain which were near the top of the water. These have been placed on barges to dry.

Capt. Bass estimates that it will be about twenty to thirty days before the Chattanooga can be put afloat and back on its regular schedule. A large crew of men is working very hard in order to relieve the boat of its cargo as soon as possible. While the steamer is out of commission, the John Ross will make the trips between Chattanooga and Decatur. This steamer is a much smaller boat, but will do the best to clear as much tonnage as possible. It leaves today for points down the river loaded with a diversified cargo.

GRANDMOTHER WAS THE DRUGGIST

In the early days of our country grandmother was the druggist, and her drugs consisted mostly of roots and herbs gathered from the fields and forests. There was peppermint for indigestion, mullein for coughs, skullcap for nervousness, thoroughwort for colds, wormwood for bruises and sprains and so on. They were successful remedies, too. It was from a combination of such roots and herbs that Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., more than forty years ago, originated her now famous Vegetable Compound; and during all these long years no other remedy has ever been discovered to restore health to ailing women so successfully as this good old-fashioned root and herb medicine.—(Adv.)

AMERICAN LEAGUE TEAMS SADLY IN NEED OF INFELDERS THIS YEAR

Infelders, infelders, who has the infelders?

American league managers are getting more and more nervous as the time approaches for the teams to go to training camps, for infelders are scarce this year and some of the best in the league are in government service and will not be available.

There are three or four good first basemen wanted, and wanted badly. A couple of second basemen could be used handsily. Several third base berths will have to be filled. At present the shortage of shortstops is not causing managers and managers much worry.

Boston is the only club which is well outfitted at first base. With McInnis and Hobblett on the job the Boston manager should worry about the initial corner. Wally Pipp has not been called to the colors yet and New York is pretty safe; so is Chicago with Gandil and St. Louis with Slater. Philadelphia must secure a first baseman and Cleveland will be without the services of Harris, one of

WAS SULLIVAN REAL WORLD CHAMP? TECHNICALLY NOT, BUT IN REALITY, YES

The death of John L. Sullivan has again opened up the old question of whether the "Boston Strong Boy" was ever champion of the world. Technically, perhaps, he was not, but during the years from his defeat of Paddy Ryan in 1882 and his draw with Charley Mitchell in 1888, there was no fighter who could have disputed it with him. It is claimed by some critics that the world's heavyweight championship did not really come to the United States until 1894, when Mitchell fell in four rounds before the terrific onslaught of Jim Corbett, but during the time Sullivan held the title there was not a man in either England or Australia, the only other pugilistic fields of the time, who could stand before Sullivan.

Joe Goss, on several battles in England and claimed the English championship, although the claim was never recognized in Great Britain. Then Goss came to America and was defeated in eighty-seven rounds by Paddy Ryan, the claimed champion. This was in 1889, the first year Sullivan did any professional fighting.

JOHNNY EVERS TO ACT AS ORACLE FOR RED SOX

Barrow to Put the Ginger Into Boston Boys This Year. Veteran Pitchers.

New York Feb. 14.—Johnny Evers, veteran second baseman, unconditionally released from the Philadelphia Nationals last summer, signed a contract last night with the Boston Americans. It was reported in baseball circles that Evers would not play, but would act in an advisory capacity to Edward Barrow, the new manager.

Ed Barrow, baseball's fighting man, has the job of putting the fight into the Boston Red Sox.

It's a fighting man's job, and with a dominant scrapper of the Barrow type at the helm there's no reason why the Red Sox should fall from the position of importance they have held in the league for six years.

A weak man would make a failure at this time for the Red Sox of 1918 will not be the Red Sox of 1917.

New conditions will prevail, a new club must be built around an old nucleus.

Since 1912 the Red Sox have been at or near the top in the American league. There have been a few changes from year to year, the club has been strengthened as the older men dropped out, but there was no radical change until this winter and there would have been none then had not the war torn into the very vitals of the club, making the building of a new organization imperative.

Manager Harry Frazee engineered some trades which procured the necessary men, but making them mesh fit into their positions under changed conditions will be Barrow's job.

Barrow's experiences as a minor league leader have been particularly fortunate. On several occasions he has taken seemingly hopeless clubs and built them into winners. The most notable example was at Montreal a few years ago, where the club leaped from the second division into first place in a season.

Barrow has a strong team at Boston. A veteran pitching staff, including Babe Ruth, Dutch Leonard, Carl Mays and probably Foster as the first-string staff, and with Penneck and Bader in reserve, will give any club in the league trouble. The catching will be shared by Sam Agnew, Wally Schang and Forrest Gady. Hobby and McInnis will be at first. Scott at short and Gardiner at third. Barrow may have a little trouble filling his outfield and second sack, but if Frazee can trade the winter dead weight he did during the winter these difficulties should be taken care of.

ROB STORE AND THEN HOME OF R. STIMPSON

Not satisfied with robbing the store of Raymond Stimpson, near the corner of Willow street and Anderson avenue, of $175 on Tuesday night, bold burglars paid a visit to the merchant's home and ransacked all the rooms except that in which Mr. and Mrs. Stimpson were sleeping. Details of the robbery became known Thursday morning, but $175 is still missing and the robbers have thus far managed to evade the law. On Tuesday morning Mrs. Stimpson prepared a deposit of $163, but, thinking that the banks would be closed on account of the world title, she placed the money in a drawer at the store.

The most promising first sack of the 1917 season. Detroit will lose Burns, but it is said Jennings has a recruit to fill the hole.

Boston is likely to be weak at second. With Barry, Janvrin and McNally in the service Frazee must look around for good keystone sack material. Connie Mack isn't so well off at second, either. The other clubs are pretty well taken care of, with Pratt at New York, Morgan at Washington, Wamby at Cleveland, Collins at Chicago, Young at Detroit and probably Mabel at St. Louis.

St. Louis is the only club which will be without the services of a shortstop, as things stand now.

Third basemen will be scarce. Gardiner, Baker, Turner, Weaver and Vitt are the only ones who are sure of starting the season.

Of course, matters may change before the seasons open in April. There may be some cracking youngsters developed in the camps, but as it stands now the outlook will be pretty tough for some of the youngsters.

Two years later Sullivan met Ryan, who claimed the championship, at Mississippi City and defeated him in four rounds. From that time Sullivan did not bar any challenger at home or abroad, with the exception of Peter Jackson, Sullivan refusing to fight a negro.

During these years there was none to dispute his claims to the world title, and he claimed it, quite rightly.

It was not until 1888 that there was any reason to doubt Sullivan's claims to the title. March 10 Sullivan met Charley Mitchell at Chantilly, France, fighting thirty-nine rounds, the fight being called a draw at that stage by mutual agreement of Mitchell and Sullivan. It has been said that Sullivan instigated this when he felt his strength going, but this is scarcely credible when it is considered that ten months later he was able to beat Jake Kilrain in seventy-five rounds. At any rate, considering Sullivan's wonderful performances over the space of a decade, it is not too much to give him credit with the world's championship, whether he technically deserved it or not.

son prepared a deposit of $163, but, thinking that the banks would be closed on account of the world title, she placed the money in a drawer at the store.

That night, while Mr. Stimpson was waiting on customers, one of the robbers is thought to have entered the building and hidden. Just as the merchant was turning out the lights a man, strongly suspected of being robber No. 2, came in the store and purchased a cigar, but was slow about taking his departure. He finally went outside and Mr. Stimpson promptly locked the door. After waiting for a time, the merchant went home, but returned and all appeared to be well then.

The supposition is that the man in the store unlocked the door and let robber No. 2 in, after which the two did the "job."

Mr. Stimpson discovered Wednesday morning that not only the $163 in the drawer was conspicuous by its absence, but that other money was gone, making the total of $175.

MOUNTAIN FOLK HAVE COMPLAINT

Ask Grand Jury to See What Influence It Has to Get Road Improved.

The Hamilton county grand jury, before it adjourned Wednesday, had several residents of Lookout Mountain before it with vigorous complaints about the condition of the original road up the mountain. The residents complained that the road was in such a serious condition they were unable to travel it. They stated that during the recent bad weather the roads were so impassable they could get no fuel or food for their families. Some of them stated that several times, on account of not being able to get fuel, they were forced to go out and cut their own wood. Rocks and large boulders almost entirely block the roads in places. The residents further complained that the Chattanooga Railway and Light company had recently elevated a bridge along the road and the approaches to it were so steep that trucks and automobiles would often get stalled and it would take hours to get them out. The residents claimed they could get no relief from the county or street car company.

As the result of the complaints, Roger Crox, superintendent of roads, and E. D. Reed, superintendent of the street car company, were summoned before the grand jury and asked several questions regarding the complaints made by the mountain residents. Mr. Crox pleaded poverty and said that as the road was a district road, he could not work county convicts on it, and the labor was so scarce he could hardly get a man to work. Mr. Crox stated that when he employed men he was only allowed $1.65 a day and that this day and time labor laughed at such a price. However, he promised to give all the relief he possibly could to the residents, and Mr. Reed promised to see that the bridge was repaired so that the grade would not be so steep that it was impassable. The matter was thus left pending during some relief offered the residents of the mountain by the county and the street car company. Both Mr. Crox and Mr. Reed said they would gladly assist the residents of the mountain in every possible way.

Before adjourning, the grand jury also visited the jail, but as no report will be made by them until they adjourn finally, it is not stated what conditions they found there. Assistant Attorney-General T. Pope Shepherd stated that the jury did investigate, and while they made no report, he heard no complaint. The jury has adjourned until March 5, at which time it will reconvene and investigate the Carter and Day cases and other important matters before it.
